MORNING REPORT

The Pight at Taylor's Bridge NEW YORK, May 27. - The Herald's special ives the following account of the arranger for aylor's Bridge over the North Anna rives

When my last dispatch was written, a con-Laylor a bridge at all harards, and posted a storm of shot and shell from the batteries, when General Birney with his division advanced Colonel Pletce and Engan with their brigades, the lat and 2d, made an assault on the enemy's works at six o'clock P. M., of the 224, inst. The riflemen of the enemy pourse shout the batteries and the statement of the enemy pourse. a deadly fire into their ranks, but they charged on the batteries on the high ground, a lit tie to the left of the bridge and accord an open space in every direction tearing up earthworks with their whizzing missiles. The redoubt was carried at the point of the bayon-et, and a considerable number of reflets were killed in the entreachments, and 110 captured This assault which was made, was under the immediate direction of General Birney, and was considered a very brilliant affair, and General Hancock wrote him a very congratulatory letter. The Third and Fifth Michigan with the 124th New York, and the 99th Pennsylvania and the 17th Maine suffered more everely than any other regiments in the di-sion. The rebels when driven from the redoubt and relie pits retreated across the river, many of them awimning, the bridge being too much crowded to admit of their crossing with much celerity, as they desired. An as-emilt on Taylors bridge spanning the North Anna was made without the loss of time, by the Fourth Mains. The bridge was carried after a sharp skirmish and the rebels were driven from their position on the opposite bank.

At one P. M., the enemy made a dash from his works and endeavored to take the bridge, but after a spirited skirmish of about tweety minutes were driven back. At midnight they made another attack with a much larger force and drove our men from the bridge and held it some time and made several attempts to burn it, but the Seventh artillery coming up the rebels were forced to retire, and the first were extinguished, and we occupied the bridge without further trouble till seven o'clock on the morning of the 24th, when Birney cronsed the North Anna River at the

Mr. Lincoln informs the country that we have a great many thousand "sooty braves" in the Federal army. How about these negro soldiers? Did any of them fight with Banks at Pleasant Hill? How many of them shed their blood in the late terrible fight with Leu? What have they done in the Army of the Cumberland, or on the banks of the James? Compress has granted pretty much everything their worshipers have asked for them, but they have done nothing as we can learn.—Are they not to be trusted on the battle-field?
